Transportation networks around the world are becoming more crowded, more congested and more complex to manage. The ability to run these networks smoothly and efficiently is crucial to economic growth and quality of life. We design, develop and deliver equipment, systems and services that enhance the safety and operational efficiency of ground transportation infrastructure and improve passenger experience worldwide: signalling, communication, supervision, revenue collection and toll road management systems. We combine them into what we call the Critical Decision Chain. It enables network managers and decision-makers to master complexity in critical scenarios and make timely decisions that deliver the best outcomes.
